Dear Fellow Alumni:

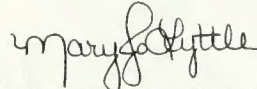

At last, no more holiday cards marked "Address Unknown"!

Indiana University of Pennsylvania, in conjunction with Bernard C. Harris Publishing Company, Inc., is proud to present the 1998 Alumni Directory. This, our newest volume, updates our previous directory published in 1993. It serves as a useful reference guide and provides us with essential information for our alumni records.

The 1998 Alumni Directory is the result of a 12 month project involving direct mail surveys, compilation of data, telemarketing, and the assembly of information into an attractive and usable form. A project of this scope, involving approximately 75,000 alumni, requires considerable effort to accomplish. We are grateful to our many alumni who participated in the 1998 directory, the staff at the IUP Office of Alumni Affairs, and Harris Publishing. We hope you enjoy using this directory in contacting old friends and classmates or in planning reunions and IUP alumni activities.

A Message to Alumni

"Where We Go to College Matters"

By Dr. Lawrence K. Pettit
President, IUP

Woven into the fabric of the American culture are several strands of sentiment and belief about the college experience. I suppose that most of us regard our college years among the happiest of our lives; certainly they are transformative years, engaging our attention in matters previously unknown to us, acquainting us with new lifestyles and new ways of making a living, and imparting to us new skills and knowledge and the ability to keep learning for a lifetime. Where we go to college matters. It is where many of us meet our spouses; it is where we form those friendships that endure for the rest of our lives; and the total university experience stamps us with an identity that helps to shape our future.

All of this translates into an interesting relationship between an alumnus or alumna and his or her alma mater. To a large extent, the value of your intellectual capital depends on the standing and reputation of your alma mater. Conversely, the university's reputation depends in part on the reputation and success of its alumni, and also on their continuing involvement in the life of the university through financial contributions, student recruitment, service on boards and committees, promotional activities, and a host of other volunteer efforts. The symbiosis extends further to the university's providing periodic retraining for its graduates and as the alumni assist in career advisement, internship placement, and job placement for current students.

We like to think that once you have been a student at IUP you are thereafter always a member of the IUP family. The university and its alumni share a responsibility for each other's success. Some universities are masterful in how they capitalize on this relationship. Others are just learning what I sometimes call the "art of managing nostalgia." At IUP we're not too self-conscious about it; we just work very hard to make our alumni proud of their university, and we are getting a little more assertive in asking for alumni help. We know that our alumni, in numbers and talent, are a powerful base of all kinds of support and we are increasingly proud of the achievements and distinction of our alumni. We want to know of their proudest moments and to share in them, too.

We also know that IUP cannot reach its goals of academic excellence and leadership without alumni support. We need philanthropic support for scholarships, technology, renovation of buildings, and as seed money for implementation of creative ideas. We need help in identifying and attracting the best students, in letting the news media know who we are and how good we are, in helping our students arrange internships, and in placing them in good jobs. Increasingly, we are getting this help from our generous and dedicated alumni across the country. Our alumni support helps distinguish IUP from many of our competitors. We are grateful for all alumni involvement, and as we continue to enhance your university, we will not let you down.

Alumni Association Volunteer Leadership Network

You may not know it, but IUP considers you among its greatest assets. There are many ways for you and other alumni to get involved with your alma mater and help both the university and its students.

Student Recruitment

"Helping to recruit high-quality students to IUP is one of the easiest but most meaningful ways alumni can support the university. All you have to do is keep your eyes and ears open for the right kind of students and let the university know about them. It doesn't hurt, either, to tell any prospective students you know about the role IUP played in your life."

Career Networking

"I think most students wish they had someone they could talk to about the career they're pursuing. Think about yourself at that time. I know I wondered about a lot of things. The Career Networking Program is a great way to share your insights with students. It doesn't have to take a lot of time, and you would be amazed at how much you have to offer in terms of information and advice."

Resources, PNC Bank*

*Kim Lyttle '72, M'74

Legislative Advocacy

"Public higher education is being scrutinized as never before. Accountability, productivity, and quality enter into the conversation every time funding levels are discussed. We, as products of the public system of higher education in Pennsylvania, must make it clear to our state policy makers that the value of our education is directly connected to our states' overall competitiveness. With more than 44,600 IUP alumni living in the Commonwealth, we have the opportunity to be a powerful voice in support of the mission of public higher education. We must all begin to tell our political leaders that investing in the State System of Higher Education is truly an investment in the future of Pennsylvania."

Regional Alumni Activities

"I think being active in an IUP regional alumni network is a win-win situation for both alumni and the university. Regional activities like ballgames, picnics, and ski trips can be a lot of fun for everybody. They're great opportunities to make new friends and network with others. There are all kinds of ways regional alumni networks can support and promote the university wherever they are."

Alumni Awards

Distinguished Alumni Award

The Distinguished Alumni Award is presented annually by the Alumni Association to alumni who have achieved distinction through sustained performance in their chosen fields. The forerunners of the Distinguished Alumni Award were the Citation for Achievement, Citation for Service, and the Outstanding Alumni Award. In 1986, the Alumni Association Board of Directors officially merged these three awards and established the new criteria for the Distinguished Alumni Award. While it is impossible to honor all of our outstanding alumni in a single year, those selected for this award are representative of the loyal alumni whose professional achievements merit admiration and respect from their alma mater.

Distinguished Alumni Award for Service

The Distinguished Alumni Award for Service was established to honor and give recognition to all outgoing presidents of the Alumni Association Board of Directors and those alumni who have demonstrated outstanding service to the university or Alumni Association over an extended period of time. It is also the association's way of thanking these alumni for all their time and effort. The Distinguished Alumni Award for Service represents true loyalty to IUP.

Alumni Ambassador Award

The Alumni Ambassador Award was instituted in 1982 by the Alumni Association. This award was designed to give current students an awareness of the achievements of alumni and bring them more directly in touch with outstanding recent graduates in their fields. This program works in conjunction with the six undergraduate colleges within the university. Each year, the deans of the colleges and the awards committee can appoint one outstanding graduate to represent each college for the year. Selected alumni ambassadors are welcomed back at Homecoming to hold seminars, presentations, and panel discussions.

Nominations for the Distinguished Alumni Award and the Distinguished Alumni Award for Service must be submitted by August 31.

Our Donors: Partners in the Pursuit of Excellence

Since its creation 30 years ago, the Foundation for IUP has supported the university's mission. Dedicated volunteers on the Foundation's Board of Directors and the university advancement officers acquire charitable support for the university. The generosity of countless individuals has made it possible to improve the quality of academic and student life at IUP through the gifts to the Foundation.

Scholarships are one key to building an outstanding student body at the university. Scholarships help to attract the best and brightest to IUP. Funds for scholarship support have steadily increased each year, benefitting virtually every college and department at IUP. In 1996-97, gifts from individuals and businesses enabled the Foundation to offer more than $550,000 in scholarships to IUP students. Increasing the university's scholarship endowment has been identified as a priority in the university's strategic planning process and by the university's 125th anniversary in 2000, our hope is to have 125 newly endowed scholarships.

As the costs of education continue to rise and funding from federal and state budgets shrinks each year, private support from alumni, friends, corporations, and foundations becomes even more important.

IUP is a highly respected university, receiving acclaim for its exceptional teaching and innovative programs. IUP has produced some very distinguished alumni, and the future promises to add many more individuals to those ranks. By involving alumni in campus activities, fundraising programs, advisory councils, and other opportunities, IUP is assured a great future.

Ways of Giving

Contributions to the university take many forms—donations of cash, securities, property, gifts-in-kind, and deferred giving instruments. Your gifts may be unrestricted, or they may be designated to support a specific program or college of your choice. Many donors are employed by companies with corporate matching gift opportunities. If you have questions or need additional information, please contact:
